CHAPLAIN'S MESSAGE

Once again, the issue of abortion and life will be debated and discussed as we approach this presidential election. I think you will find these words from the late Cardinal O'Connor of New York very instructive. As you know, he was very pro-life and criticized for that. Even then, the “one-issue argument” was used against him.

“I have long had a special, but by no means exclusive concern about the unborn. Thanks to various propagandists, there are those who have been misled to believe that I developed my concern only very suddenly during the 1984 presidential election campaign, in order to influence the outcome of the election. During that campaign, the ‘single issue’ allegation was given new impetus and became a useful slogan to discredit the pro-life movement. It became even more useful politically, however, to discredit those who were allegedly single-issue voters—but only if the issue was abortion.

The fact never ceases to amaze me. As noted elsewhere in this book, I have testified on several occasions before congressional subcommittees concerning certain critical issues of public policy. In addition to such congressional testimony, I have given innumerable public addresses, preached countless sermons, appeared in endless numbers of radio, newspaper, periodical and television interviews, concerning Nicaragua, housing, hunger, the defense budget, weapons procurement, tax structures, the economy, Ethiopia, Ireland, El Salvador, and a variety of other critical issues. I have repeatedly argued on behalf of labor and just wages and have directed that no activity under the cognizance of the Archdiocese of New York—hospitals, schools, cemeteries, etc.—use substitute labor to break strikes. In other words, I have publicly argued a broad spectrum of critical public-policy issues, social issues, with a particular emphasis on the quality of life for the poor.

Some people have disagreed with me vehemently on some of these issues, but I have not once been told that in addressing any one of these issues, I have ‘crossed the line between Church and State.’ I have not once been told that I am creating divisiveness in our society. I have not once been told that I have interfered in the political process or attempted to influence a political campaign, and I have certainly not once been told that I am a single-issue bishop because of my position on any one of these issues. In fact, most of what I have said has never been reported. It hasn’t been considered ‘controversial’ enough.

On the other hand, when I have pleaded on behalf of the life of the unborn, I have been accused of being indifferent to the problems of the poor, the homeless, the abused child or mother, or the dangers of nuclear war, or whatever, because in a particular address

I have focused on the life of the unborn. Yet I have never once talked to any audience about any of these other issues and been accused of being indifferent to the unborn for not mentioning them.”

(From His Eminence and Hizzoner, a Candid Exchange, John Cardinal O’Connor, and Mayor Edward I. Koch)

These words published in 1989 are as true today as then! How many times have the Knights of Columbus been accused of being a one-issue organization? Keep up the good work!

Msgr. Ken

GRAND KNIGHT'S MESSAGE

My Brother Knights

Greetings! As you all well know, we are still in a holding pattern as far as council meetings go. There is a 4th Degree meeting at St Theresa’s in the church on 9/1. It will be an interesting meeting as mask and social distancing will be mandatory. We had our 2nd Officers meeting on the 26th to discuss upcoming events. As far as I know, we are still having the Parish Picnic on the 13th. Please come out for the picnic as it will be a chance to socialize with your Brothers.

As a reminder, we will have “One Nation Under God” signs at the picnic for sale. Given the current events in this country, these signs can be a powerful reminder of what this nation stands for. Remember, my Brothers, we always “Stand for the flag and Kneel for the Cross”. We are one nation under God!

If any brother has anyone, they know who would like to become a Knight, they can join online at the Knights of Columbus website, www. KofC.org.

God Bless You All and God Bless AMERICA!!!

Vivat Jesus
Mike Rua G.K.

A PRAYER FOR PROTECTION IN TIME OF PANDEMIC

O Mary,
you always brighten our path
as a sign of salvation and of hope.
We entrust ourselves to you, Health of the Sick,
who, at the Cross, took part in Jesus' pain
while remaining steadfast in faith.

O loving Mother,
you know what we need,
and we are confident you will provide for us
as at Cana in Galilee.

Intercede for us with your Son Jesus,
the Divine Physician,
for those who have fallen ill,
for those who are vulnerable,
and for those who have died.

Intercede also for those charged with protecting the health and safety of others and for those who are tending to the sick and seeking a cure.

Help us, O Mother of Divine Love, to conform to the will of the Father and to do as we are told by Jesus, who took upon himself our sufferings and carried our sorrows,
so as to lead us, through the Cross,
to the glory of the Resurrection. Amen.

*Under thy protection we seek refuge,
O Holy Mother of God.*

*In our needs, despise not our petitions,
but deliver us always from all dangers,
O glorious and blessed Virgin. Amen.*

The McGivney Letters

by Kevin Coyne

The surviving writings of the Knights' founder show a pastor determined to meet the spiritual and temporal needs of his people

Illustration by John Folley

Just 13 letters and a few quotes recorded by the local newspapers — that is what remains of all the words written and spoken by Father Michael J. McGivney across his 38 years. Much of what we know about him comes from the testimonies of people who knew him, but what do his own words tell us?

Some of his letters are of a kind that priests write routinely, such as a recommendation to his bishop on behalf of a young man discerning a religious vocation. But more than half of the letters chart the earliest days of the Knights of Columbus — the spiritual vision behind it, as well as its practical workings and the initial challenges it faced.

SHEPHERD OF SOULS

Father McGivney's earliest surviving letter shows that he could bear a heavy load. "I have been alone all summer with the whole work of a parish on my shoulders," he wrote in October 1878 to Father Alphonse Magnien, a favorite professor at St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore, where he had graduated the previous year. Father McGivney was referring to his first assignment — at St. Mary's Church, a New Haven parish struggling with a $165,000 debt (approximately $3.8 million today, adjusted for inflation) and an ill pastor. "I have not had time for even one day's vacation since I left," he added.

The young curate was not the kind of priest who believed his ministry ended with the Mass. He walked fast but spoke slowly, with perfect diction and the authority of faith, in a voice so clear and pleasant that an old blind man, not even Catholic himself, came to Mass each Sunday just to hear it. Father McGivney was — as William Geary, a founding member of the Knights, would later write — "a great favorite of the people, and was particularly intimate with the energetic pushing go-ahead young men."

His ministry didn't end with his parish either. He made regular pastoral rounds to the local jail, where his spiritual counsel was especially prized by James "Chip" Smith, a young man sentenced to death for killing a police chief. Five days before the execution date, Father McGivney celebrated a High Mass for Smith at the jail Aug. 28, 1882, after which he said, with his voice breaking: "I am requested by Mr. Smith to ask pardon for all faults he may have had and all offenses he may have committed, and at his request I ask for the prayers of all of you, that when next Friday comes he may die a holy death."

As reported that day in the New Haven Daily Palladium, he then asked for prayers for everyone who would be present at the execution, himself included. "To me this duty comes with almost a crushing weight. If I could consistently with my duty be far away from here next Friday, I should escape perhaps the most trying ordeal of my life, but this sad duty is placed my way by providence and must be fulfilled."

ESTABLISHING THE ORDER

Father McGivney's vision extended far beyond New Haven, too. "By permission of our Rt. Rev. Bishop, and in accordance with an Act of the Legislature of the State of Connecticut, we have formed an organization under the name of the Knights of Columbus," he wrote in April 1882 to a long list of parish priests in Connecticut. He saw the fledgling Order as addressing a pressing need of the Catholic Church in America, and concluded with an earnest request: "that you will exert your influence in the formation of a Council in your parish."

Father McGivney was disappointed at the initial response. "Our beginning is extremely slow," he wrote two months later to Michael Edmonds, secretary of another fraternal society, the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters. "The Order I was endeavoring to establish fell back almost lifeless but not dead."

After continuing to promote the Knights' founding ideals of charity and unity, the young priest was encouraged when he heard from some men in Meriden, Conn., the following year. They had read about the Knights in The Pilot, Boston's Catholic newspaper, and wanted to know how they could start a council of their own. Father McGivney replied quickly.

"I am glad to hear that the Meriden Catholic young men are not behind their age in looking for their own benefit," he wrote to P.J. Ford on April 17, 1883. "You will see that when we are well established in the diocese, we can bid defiance to the secret societies and bring our fellow Catholics to enjoy without any danger to their faith all the benefits which those societies offer as inducements to enter them."

In an Aug. 25, 1883, letter to the editor of The Connecticut Catholic, he wrote, "We are advancing slowly, but surely."

Eleven councils would be established by November 1884, when Father McGivney was named pastor of St. Thomas Church in Thomaston.

"I have been with you for seven long years, visiting your sick and guiding the steps of your children in the paths in which they should go," he said in his farewell homily on Nov. 10. "Wherever I go, the memory of the people of St. Mary's and their great kindness to me will always be uppermost in my heart."

Parishioners wept openly in the pews. "Never, it seemed, was a congregation so affected by the parting address of a clergyman as the great audience which filled St. Mary's yesterday," the New Haven Evening Register reported. "There was never a more energetic or hardworking young priest stationed in New Haven than he."

'INCALCULABLE GOOD'

At his new parish, Father McGivney established the 18th K of C council in April 1885, at a time when councils were forming at a rate of two per month.

In May, he crafted one of the most eloquent of his extant letters, which was a sharp defense of the Order against doubters. When a priest writing anonymously to The Connecticut Catholic questioned whether the Knights of Columbus was itself just the kind of "secret society" the Church proscribed, Father McGivney sent a tart reply.

Not only was the Order categorically not a secret society, he wrote, but: "The constitution and by-laws of the Knights of Columbus contain nothing collusive to the rules of the Church. Although but a few years organized, the Order has effected incalculable good in many households."

Just a few weeks before Father McGivney wrote that letter, the Knights had paid out their first death benefit; and just a few weeks after he wrote it, he rode in a carriage at the head of a line of 1,500 Knights who paraded through downtown New Haven. He no longer served as the supreme secretary but remained the Order's supreme chaplain, and its spiritual heart. The last piece of writing we have from his hand is a postcard sent to William Geary in February 1886, announcing an upcoming visit back to New Haven.

"[W]ill try to find you all information I can regarding K of C," he wrote.

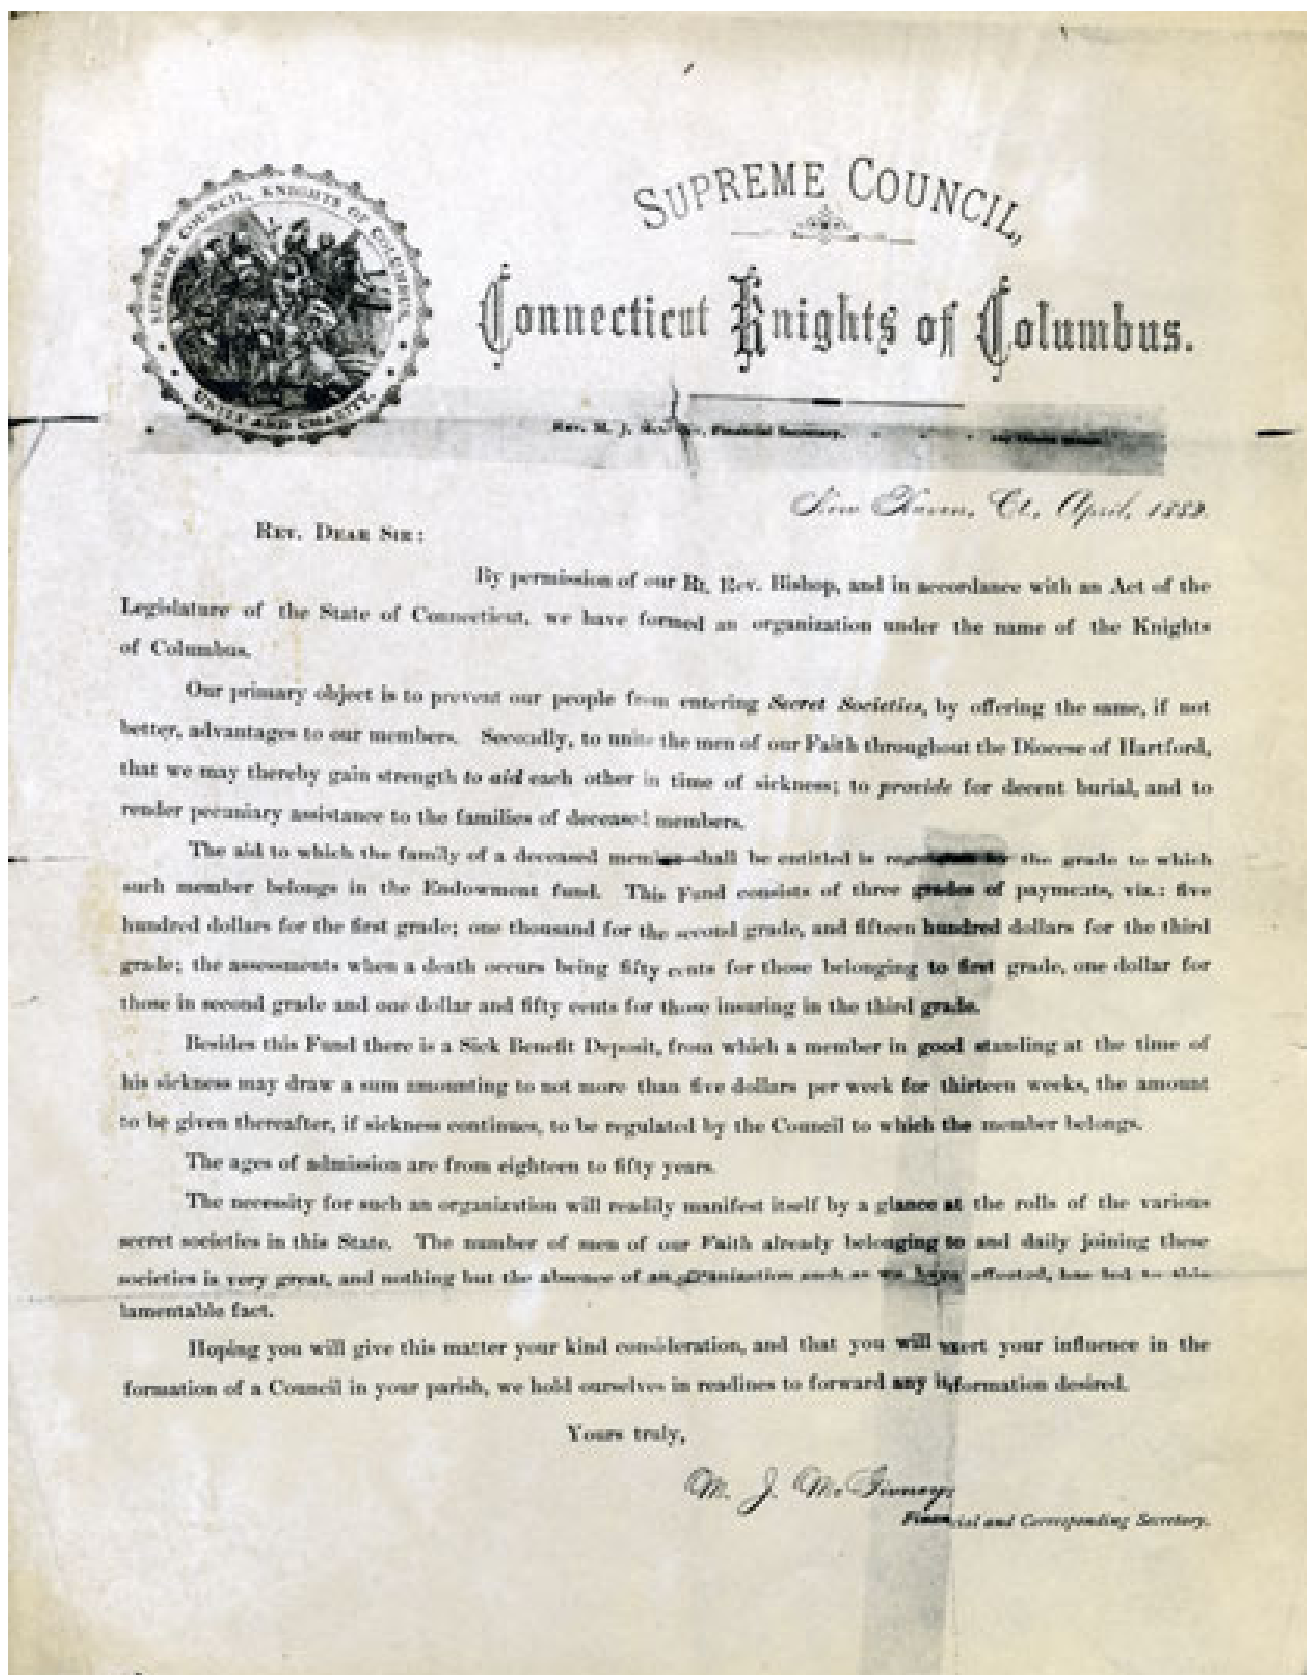

When Father McGivney died Aug. 14, 1890, at age 38, his survivors included 6,000 members of the Order that started in the basement of St. Mary's Church Oct. 2, 1881.

"[W]hen we look back at the gathering of the sixteen members on that fateful Sunday afternoon," Geary, who was among those 16, later wrote, "we can fully realize in their action the hand of Divine Providence."

Father McGivney's name, Geary concluded, "is written upon the heart of every true Knight of Columbus, and his name will be revered for generations to come."

KEVIN COYNE is an award-winning writer and professor at the Columbia School of Journalism. He lives in Freehold, N.J., with his family.

‘UNITY AND CHARITY’ IS OUR MOTTO

Father McGivney's letter to Connecticut priests, typed on Supreme Council letterhead with the words "Unity and Charity" visible on the seal, was written shortly after the Order was officially incorporated in 1882. Knights of Columbus Supreme Council Archives

Father McGivney on the Knights of Columbus

In the 13 surviving documents written by Venerable Michael McGivney, there are numerous references to the Knights of Columbus and its founding mission. Here are four excerpts of Father McGivney's writing about the Order.

*“Our primary object is to prevent people from entering Secret Societies, by offering the same, if not better, advantages to our members. Secondly, to unite the men of our Faith throughout the diocese of Hartford, that we may thereby gain strength to aid each other in time of sickness; to provide for decent burial, and to render pecuniary assistance to the families of deceased members.” — To Connecticut parish priests, April 1882

*“You ask what is the membership. We only number about a hundred yet. The reason of this small number for the time established is that I have met with great opposition from the Foresters — a very strong organization in this state, especially among our young men — and again because anything new is always a hard thing to maintain.” — To Martin I.J. Griffin of Philadelphia, Feb. 12, 1883

*“We have set the wheel in motion, and with willing cooperation in a work that tends so much to our own welfare, we venture to say that soon, very soon, the Order of the Knights of Columbus will hold a prominent place among the best Catholic cooperative corporations in the Union. ... ‘Unity and Charity’ is our motto. Unity in order to gain strength to be charitable to each other in benevolence whilst we live and in bestowing financial aid to those whom we have to mourn our loss.” — Letter to The Connecticut Catholic, Aug. 25, 1883

*“The Order of the Knights of Columbus is the same now as when first instituted. viz.: It is an Order composed of Catholics and instituted for the welfare of Catholic families. ... Not only in sickness, but when death takes the support of the family away, the Knights of Columbus comes to the relief of the widow and the orphan in a very substantial manner.” — Letter in response to “Clericus” in The Connecticut Catholic, May 30, 1885

Prayer to Father Michael J. McGivney

(Founder of the Knights of Columbus)

O great and glorious God, you imbued your holy priest, Father Michael J. McGivney, with deep priestly virtue and especially with pastoral concern for the poor,
 the orphan, the widow, for the Christian education of youth,
 for the protection of the faith of the working man of his day.

Now that his priestly ministry continues to spread to countless millions throughout the world through the efforts and influence of the Order of the Knights of Columbus, which Father McGivney founded, we beseech you, Heavenly Father, to raise your faithful servant, Michael,
 to the honors of the altar.

We ask this favor through our Lord Jesus Christ and His holy mother, Mary and our mother.

Amen.
